Pertinent Paragraphs

Something unusual happened to the committee soliciting businessmen for funds to defray expenses for what promises to be a community Christmas party to lead the way for all Christmas parties. The committee, Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. Burton Snyder, Mrs. Frank Greenlee and Frank Higgins, started working Wednesday afternoon at Massachusetts avenue, headed east, and wound up around 5:30 at the L.G. Ranch market. Each business was asked to contribute $3. — no more. The unusual part is that when they stopped, they discovered that the West siders had come through 100%! If you are an East sider, you'll probably see them today or tomorrow — so remember, it's now a matter of sectional pride— let's show those Westerners!

Was it proposition 3 or 23 that would eliminate 'featherbedding' and bring the cost of living down 20 percent? Which ever it was it carried. Now all we need is the 20 percent reduction.

Seems as though Andy (Oil) Anderson is beginning to believe the fish stories Mac (Avalon) McQueen is telling about him. Overheard Andy telling Ray (Auction) Wright that he caught the huge tuna now reposing in the ice house with a 6 ounce rod. Incidentally, if you haven't seen 120 pounds of tuna all in one fish before, drop up to Andy's and have a look.

Wanna read our mail? One hot one came in for 'letters to the editor' but couldn't use it. no name. We withhold names when requested but they must be signed. Here's one though. Excerpt: "now that you have decided you would like a little pay for your feeble efforts, here's my buck and a half which I figure is only a buck and a quarter too much . . . . it's not much of a paper, but you've got me in the position of a guy in a burlesque show — you know the darn thing's indecent, but you keep waiting to see what's going to happen next! . . . didn't get my Review 'til Tuesday this week, can't you do something about that?" All of which makes us wonder if we're being kidded a little. Any burlesque addict, at today's prices (we hear) has no kick coming at a measly buck and a quarter overcharge on a subscription.

Tony Sonka is now a "Tournament" golfer — having competed in the La Mesa country club championship last Sunday. Tony contracted "golf jitters" and added quite a few strokes to his usual game. In deer hunting, it's called buck fever. Wonder what they call it in golf? Bet Tony will have to spot Paul Duley, Johnny Hill, Mac McQueen and Frank Higgins a few strokes now that he's in the 'tournament' class!

Wonder what kind of an organization (for Lemon Grove) we might start that would be interested in seeing a few directional signs erected around? Maybe one saying "Welcome to Lemon Grove" or maybe "You are now entering Lemon Grove" or something like that? Suppose we shouldn't worry — we know the way to Lemon Grove. Reminds us of the fellow who wouldn't vote for a library in his small town — he had a book!

COMMUNITY XMAS PARTY ASSURED

Several members of the Coordinating Council met in the Congregational Church Tuesday evening to plan a community Christmas party for Lemon Grove.

Mrs. Frank Greenlee was a new member representing Beta Sigma Phi sorority, and Hans Ahrensberg for the Cub Scouts. Mr. Kenneth Beam of the County Coordinating Council was present and temporary president L. Mc Gee called the meeting to order.

Frank Higgins, chairman of the Business Men's community tree project, outlined details of their plans to date. He stated that a huge tree is to be donated by Stephen Westover of the Lemon Grove Lumber Company, and the State Forestry Department is being asked for some lesser trees for background decorating purposes.

A cement platform with a depression in it will be constructed as a permanent location for a tree each year, located north of Broadway on Imperial, on the railroad right of way, and south of the Grove Theatre. Wiring from the electric pole nearby will be provided by the company, promised by the manager of the San Diego Electric Company, Mr. Pemberton.

An electrician from Cato's Lemon Grove Electric Shop will assist with stringing lights on the tree and other volunteers are expected.

Teen age boys will be asked to assist with cleaning grounds and assist with foundations, and direct traffic the night of the party. The tree will be placed December 10 or 11.

The Coordinating Council adopted Mr. Higgins' suggestion to ask three people to solicit local business men for $3.00 each for expenses of the project. Mr. Higgins volunteered for this soliciting, aided by Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. Burton Snyder and Mrs. Frank Greenlee.

Dr. Weege is expected to be responsible for Santa Claus being present, and a fitting entry is to be arranged for him. Carols will be sung by local school children and the school band will be asked to play.

The date of the big even is set for December 23 at 6:30 p. m. A treat is being planned for each child present, and a great number of boys and girls is expected to attend.

This is an ambitious undertaking for local business men, and the Coordinating Council plans to cooperate with them to the fullest extent, which means every organization in the community is behind the party. Those who wish to aid with the project should contact Frank Higgins, as he is general chairman of the Lemon Grove Community Christmas Party.

Dormann, Haaf, Hill and Pearce Elected to C of C Board

Results of the election of the Chamber of Commerce to determine the four occupants of the vacancies on the Board of directors were as follows: V. J. Dormann, Ted Haaf, Johnny Hill and J. B. Pearce. Of the 184 eligible voters, 124 sent in ballots.

Nominate Officers For Business Mens' Club

The Lemon Grove Business Men attended their weekly luncheon at the cafe of the Golf and Country Club Tusday noon. First the nominating committee consisting of Jack Barnes, J. L. Steward, and Frank Higgins announced the following nominees for new officers: for president, Ted Haaf, John Hill or Andy Anderson; for vice president, Bob Johnson, Tony Sonka or Stanley Blake; for secretary - treasurer, Jack Barnes, J. A. Pearce or Paul Duley.

For the board of three directors, nominees from which to choose are, Dr. Frank Weege, Mr. A. Boese, George White, Walter Williamson, Frank Higgins, J. L. Steward, Rev. Dan Apra, J. A. Van Gilse and E. O. Donneley.

The plans for the big community Christmas tree progressed, it being voted to assess each merchant $3.00 to finance the expense of the affair.

A discussion was held regarding changing the time of the Business Men's meeting to a breakfast at 7:00 a. m. This matter will be decided next week.

Mr. A. Boese nominated Dr. Weege as his favorite candidate for being responsible to see that Santa Claus appears at the Christmas party, and his choice was heartily approved.

Mr. Dick Pemberton of the San Diego Gas and Electric Company, was given a vote of thanks for kindly cooperating in bringing in power from a nearby pole for lighting the big community Christmas tree.

Plans to set the tree up December 10 were approved and the coordinating council was to be asked to set the date for the party.

COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN PROGRESSING

Lemon Grove Community Chest quota was set at $600. On Monday, only $118.42 of that had been received. Mrs. Russell Ray suggested that if 40 Grovers would pledge $1.00 per month, the quota could be met.

Lemon Grove merchants and business men are keeping their places of business open on Friday and Saturday evenings until Christmas, according to a full page advertisement in this issue of the Review.

For the convenience of the shopping public, a majority are keeping open until nine o'clock evenings while others will remain open until a much later time.

A Talk With Parents

by L. E. McGee

This is the last week on the series of objectives, namely teaching a child to have a good religious background. This is a touchy subject to some folks, but I'm not talking about creeds; churches of all denominations are teaching the same thing, they advocate different ways to approach the same goal.

I firmly believe that every child should be sent to Sunday School every week from the time he is old enough to walk. He may not learn much before he is 4 or 5 years old, but the atmosphere is conducive to a religious feeling, even in tiny tots. My own 4 year old boy stands, folds his hands, bows his head and closes his eyes when prayers are being offered. Nobody taught him. He saw others doing the same thing and felt it was the thing to do.

Perhaps you do not go to church yourself; you should. I don't care what your alibi is, I can answer it. If you don't believe me, write and tell me your reason for not attending and I'll answer gladly. There is no legitimate excuse for failing to attend church and sunday school. Even if you do not believe in any religion, if you are a human being, you do believe in the Golden Rule and that is the basis of all religion.

Now I know some parents say, "I don't get anything out of church and I don't feel like forcing my child to go because he won't get anything out of it either." Well, I know I was forced to go every Sunday, and while I resented the fact that my parents didn't go also, I still must have had something brushed off onto me, because when I was 22 years of age, I went back of my own accord and have been going ever since.

Every child who attends sunday school, church, young peoples meetings, or other church activities, hears the prayers, lessons, etc. week after week and he can't help getting something beneficial from it. In my Boy Scouting, I learned that having the boys repeat the oath and law week after week impressed it on their minds until it subconsciously became a way of life or a standard which they set up for themselves.

The children under eighteen who came into the hands of the law during the past ten years were questioned as to whether or not they attended sunday school. According to J. Edgar Hoover of the F. B. I., 98 per cent of those arrested had never attended sunday school before they were nine years of age. Some more had attended after nine.

I think that speaks for itself. Sunday School and Scout work will definitely improve the chances of your child to attain adulthood with a better understanding of how to live with others and himself.

Next week will see the beginning of a short series on our schools and what they do toward solving the delinquency problem. My first in this series will be the results of conferences with children in Lemon Grove who have attended schools elsewhere, their comparisons, and what the children think about the different methods.

You may be surprised.

Also during the following weeks, I will report on what I have learned and deduced from conferences with educators, psychologists and other people trained and experienced in youth work.

Answers:

Mrs. K: I believe that the damage being done every week in this town by children is the direct result of lack of training in respect for others and other people's property. That's what I've been trying in my column to put across to my readers.

The present method of explaining why a child should not do something and finding why he did it, instead of having a stern payoff for the act, encourages them to do what they darn well please.

This week the mothers of first, second and third grade girls received the following invitation from the Forward Club Junior:
Dear Mother:

You and your little girl are cordially invited to attend the "Doll Wedding Tea" of Mary Christmas" and her snow "Prince" Friday, December 3rd from 10:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m., in the lobby of the Grove Theatre. Pink lemonade and cake will be served.

All of the 100 dolls who are attending as guests have been dressed by the Juniors of the Forward Club and will go on sale as the "Junior Miss Dolls" at the local stores on December 4th.

This wedding tea will take your child on an imaginary visit to fairyland and will delight her heart as she sees the beautifully dressed collection dolls.

Sincerely,
The Forward Club Juniors

Mothers are encouraged to attend with their daughters, as their hearts are sure to be delighted as much as the "littler" girls.

The Juniors who are responsible for the unique venture of the 'Doll Wedding' are Mrs. J. A. Van Gilse, Mrs. David Hentigan, Mrs. Alvin Bergquist, Mrs. Charles Jinnett, Mrs. William Hubbard, Mrs. Allen Giles, Mrs. A. P. Chappelle, Mrs. Leslie Heyser, Mrs. Al Barstau and Mrs. George Helix.

This is the first attempt of the Juniors to sell character dolls and all proceeds will be used for their youth and benevolent projects.

GIRL SCOUTS MAKING PUZZLES

Mrs. L. O. McIntosh and her troop of Girl Scouts have started a service project of collecting cross word puzzles and jokes.

They paste them on construction paper and paste the answers on the back. Then they make them into books which they plan to send to the California Christian Home in San Gabriel, to cheer the aged folks there.

Confuse You? Think How Confused They Must Get!

Dear Mother and Dad:

I'm writing this letter because I'm a little confused. I guess all children, even those in their early 'teens, get confused the same as adults. The reason I say this about adults is because for a long time before the last election almost everyone was saying a certain man would be our next president. But when the votes weree counted another man had been elected.

Once in a while I hear you discussing some part of our government with the neighbors and sometimes some of the talk gets pretty heated. Yet, I know some of those neighbors don't vote when they have a chance to do something about the things they don't like. That's part of the reason I'm confused.

The children at school were very happy the other day when the bond election for schools was passed. Practically all parents want their children to go off the double session, but someone told me there were only about 500 votes cast out of nearly 3300 registered voters. Did this confuse you?

I know parents are confused about their children and the schools. I've heard parents ask the teacher how they should handle Johnny. A neighbor told you the other day, Mother, that she couldn't understand her Mary's actions. But I'll bet there isn't one person in fifty in our neighborhood who reads books or studies about his child as he grows up.

I asked our teacher the other day if P. T. A. ever tries to teach parents about children and she told me of several ways P. T. A. attempts to do this. There are study groups just for parents. The teacher said these groups are led by experts and they will take up any type of problem parents have with their children. But I don't know a single parent in our whole neighborhood who goes to one of these groups.

I guess why I am confused mostly is wondering how: grown-ups expect to have good government and schools today if they don't even take the trouble to vote and set an example; and how parents expect to have good citizens tomorrow when they won't take the time and trouble to learn to understand their children so they can bring them up properly.

Your ever loving but confused son,

Joe

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS VISITED IN CORONADO

The Student Council president, Laura Collins, the vice president, Adolph Robles, and the secretary, Jerry Hurst, went to Coronado Junior High School for a luncheon on November 10, 1948, which was club day.

They left at 10:00 a. m. and arrived there about 11:45 a. m. A representative showed them the school until 12:00 noon.

The Coronado Student Council also invited La Mesa, Lakeside and El Cajon for club day.

They ate at 12:00 and after eating, went to the cooking room and exchanged ideas about schools and clubs until 1:30. At 1:30 the different clubs gave skits and demonstrations of what they have done for the last six or seven weeks.

At Shrine Dinner Dance

Lemon Grove members were well represented when the La Mesa-El Cajon Shrine Club held their Thanksgiving Dinner Dance on Wednesday, November 24, at Caspers Ranch Club in El Cajon.

New York Critics Loved It!

Seldom, indeed, does a picture draw the critical acclaim from blase Broadway reviewers that was accorded Paramount's witty romance, "A Foreign Affair," when it opened in New York recently. The film, co-starring Jean Arthur, Marlene Dietrich and John Lund, and due Tuesday at the Grove Theatre, was unanimously rated "This Year's Top Picture!"

The World - Telegram critic said: "My candidate for this year's Academy Award. It will be a mighty fine day when they make a picture to top 'A Foreign Affair' — awhale of a picture." The New York Times reviewer said: "Dandy entertainment — has wit, worldliness and charm—richly amusing." The N. Y. Sun wrote: "This Brackett - Wilder team seems unbeatable — another brilliant picture. Dialogue is funny, crisp and real, vastly entertaining."

These and similar rave notices would indicate that "A Foreign Affair" is a great film buy for anyone's money.

LET'S DISCUSS IT

by Mrs. Agnes Whitlock

The teenagers are interested in the problems concerning them, and they are willing to try to help solve them. Are you adults willing to help them?

Here are portions of letters received from teenagers, and I quote;

"If all the kids could chip in and all work on their parents, we could get up enough money to go in on a swimming pool. It would take quite a few years in which to do this, and by that time we would be married and gone or moved. So What's the use? Of course, we could all chip in and try and make this a better place for the coming teenagers to live in. If there was only some place where we could all get together and all really come down to earth long enough to get ecquainted. Instead of us all being so stuck up and thinking we're so good, but really aren't.

"As a whole, I think Lemon Grove could be a pretty good place to live in"

Signed,
Miss D.

Teenagers aren't the only ones who need to come down to earth and get acquainted.

This town could stand some good old fashioned "Community get - togethers." Even though there is no building for an event of this type, a blocked off section of street would serve the purpose temporarily.

Here is another teenager's opinion:

"I have been living here for three years and since I have been here nothing exciting has ever happened.

"A few stores and such have been put up, but those are all for grown ups and none for teenagers, like myself and many others.

"If we could only have a nice place in which to go some nights to dance and have refreshments, but all the parents as a rule don't like their houses messed up. Or they are going out and don't want to be bothered."

Signed,
Miss K.

These two girls have expressed the opinions of a good many teenagers. Are you one of the parents who can't be bothered? Does keeping your house tidy mean more to you than your child's welfare? Knowing where your child is, and what kind of entertainment he is indulging in, is for your own good as well as his.

Do you enjoy having your child called a hoodlum? Remember, circumstances make hoodlums out of children, they are not born as such. They come into this world as innocent bundles of joy; what they become later is up to you, the parents.

There were several other teenage opinions, but, bscause of the repercussions from local business concerns, I hesitate to give them.

FAMILY REUNION

Mrs. Lum Morrow of Mt. Vernon Avenue left Wednesday for San Francisco, to meet her husband, who has been in Guam on civician naval construction work for over a year.

They plan to fly back and all be together next Sunday. Since Mr. Morrow went to Guam, his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Morrow, became the parents of a son, and his son Beryl has married and they have a little daughter. Mr. Morrow has been very anxious to meet the new members of his family.

ENTERED HOSPITAL TUESDAY

Mr. J. E. Lowry entered the Mercy Hospital Tuesday evening as a surgical patient for two weeks.

SPENT THANKSGIVING IN CHULA VISTA

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Collins and family spent Thanksgiving in Chula Vista with his mother, Mrs. Ira Collins, and his sister Mr. and Mrs. Chick Bravell.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

November 26, '48
Lemon Grove,
California

Lemon Grove Review,

In reading Mr. Van Gilse's column "Lookin at the Grove," he tells about various happenings in Lemon Grove such as breaking windows, breaking into club houses, etc. He says to curb this vandalism Lemon Grove should "enforce our curfew rigidly for awhile."

As a teenager myself and also speaking for many other teenagers in Lemon Grove, the best idea to curb the vandalism is to build a Youth Center such as La Mesa has and can well be proud of. Going around now at Grossmont is a group of girls with a petition, who are getting the teenagers of Lemon Grove to help put through this idea to keep the children off the street. They are going to present it to the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce.

If the Lemon Grove Merchants can't do anything but blame the children for the vandalism going on in Lemon Grove, well at least the teenagers of Lemon Grove can. Its about time someone in Lemon Grove wakes up to the fact that they should have a place where they can provide recreation for themselves, such as ping pong, dancing and other games.

In answer to Mr. Van Gilse's column, the curfew idea, is for the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce to build a Youth Center which the teenagers of Lemon Grove can be proud of, instead of going to other communities to find recreation.

We, the teenagers of Lemon Grove, hope that you the Lemon Grove Merchants can see through what your own children want.

Hopefully,
Wm. Dyer
A Lemon Grove teenager

Trees for Benefit Youth Work Expected Now

The activity noticed around the vacant lot on the corner of Olive and Broadway marks the beginning of preparations for what is hoped to be the largest sale of Christmas trees Lemon Grove has ever seen.

These trees will be sold by the Y's Men's Club of Lemon Grove. Every penny of profit will be directed to youth work in this community. No wages will be paid, no rent is being charged — thanks to the generosity of Tony Sonka for the lot and the members of the club for the labor.

Advance reports indicate a fine shipment of trees in the first 500 ordered. They are expected in the next day or two and will go on sale immediately.

The Y's Men is a service club of the Y.M.C.A. and is devoted primarily to work with youth, both boys and girls. Already in operation is a plan which sends groups of boys to the "Y" every other week for a swim and a Hi-Y group which meets weekly. Volleyball games and instructions will be available after the holidays. Group singing and folk-dancing is being contemplated also for the young people.

The Lemon Grove swimming pool is one of the major undertakings this group is considering.

The Y's Men have offered financial assistance to the children's Christmas party and to the home decorations contest sponsored by the Garden Section of the Forward Club.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP VISITED SHOPPING CENTER

Mrs. John Kish and her troop of Girl Scouts met in the Congregational Church Tuesday. Several of them made a trip to the Shopping Center to learn about a modern grocery store, placing of groceries on shelves, brand names, etc. This trip tied in with their Home Making badges.

Last week those who are second class scouts marked a trail around the church, and those working to become second class schouts found the trail. They also learned how to instruct for games.

TRUCOLOR A FINE COMPLEMENT

Color in films is not new, but its use has been limited in the past due to the expense and time involved. Color film required elaborte photography technique and lengthy, complicated laboratory development. The public wanted color, but producers could not overcome its major drawbacks to supply the demand. Thus only top-budget productions warranted color until these two factors were overcome.

Republic Studio was the first to solve the problem and develop a fast, low cost color process which maintained rich, full, natural hues. Known as Trucolor, the process was further improved upon as it was used first in westerns and later on in all types of movies. All Republic outdoor dramas are now made in Trucolor and an increasing number of dramatic films are scheduled to be photographed in it during the coming months. This news should gratify the movie patrons whose demand for more color resulted in the development of the new process.

The latest example of Trucolor can be seen currently at the Grove Theatre where Republic's "The Timber Trail," co-starring Monte Hale and Lynne Roberts, is now playing.

Nancy Volger - Donald Mulvihill Married

Miss Nancy Vogler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Vogler of Monterey Heights, and Donald Charles Mulvihill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Mulvihill of Kimball, Nebraska, were married Saturday morning at 8:00 in Our Lady of the Angels Church with Rev. Father Jacob C. Benke officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was gowned in white net and lace with a veil caught to a cap of white carnations, and carried a prayer book and white bouquet.

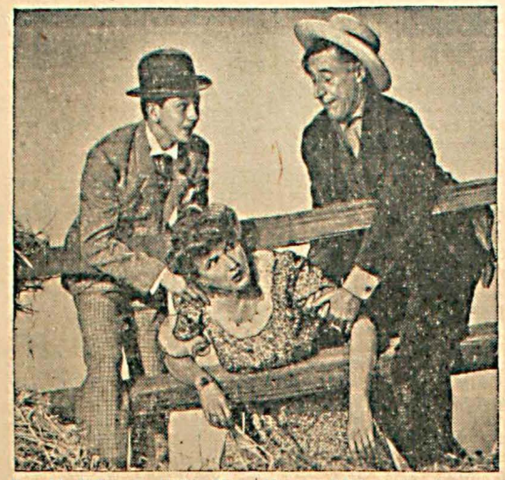
Mrs. Perry R. Yates, matron of honor, was gowned in pastel green and carried gold carnations. Miss Katherine Mason, bridesmaid, wore pink lace and carried blue carnations.

Thomas Leininger served as best man, and Charles Merriam was usher.

Miss Marion Campbell preceded the ceremony with a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Jacqueline Baily.

Following the ceremony the party enjoyed a wedding breakfast. Immediately after the breakfast the happy couple left for Kimball, Nebraska, where they will make their home. For traveling, the bride chose a biege suit with red accessories.

Mrs. Mulvihill studied at Grossmont High School and Mr. Mulvihill at Santa Rosa Junior College.



Donald O'Connor (left), Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride are a trio of stars calculated to bring out the laughs in large quantities and they do just that in the Universal-International comedy, "Feudin', Fussin' and A-Fightin'," playing at the Grove Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

Before You Can Reach Your Doctor

by Dr. Frank Weege, D. C.

Since very few accidents occur wherein bandaging a part of the victim's body is not indicated it seems appropriate to interest ourselves in this article with:

Bandages and Bandaging

Reading some of the First Aid Books it appears to me that their authors are in the belief that anybody taking a trip into the backcountry is equipped with a small hospital, anyhow a surgery. They tell you what particular bandage to use for a certain injury and how to apply it; They describe the "Spica, Spiral Reverse and Recurrent" bandages which really are not emergency bandages but special appliances for the expert and trained First Aider.

Never forget that in dealing with an emergency you are on your own; no book to read up on, no well-stocked surgical armamentarium to select from; sometimes not even a glass of water to offer to the injured and suffering victim. Yes, believe it or not, accidents do occur miles away from any habitation, away from phones, drugstores, and Doctors' offices.

Writing high-sounding books with high falutin' terms therein and practically forgetting the excruciating pain of a suffering human being, lying in a muddy ditch in a driving rain, his compounded fracture embedded in dirt, makes my blood boil. I have no axe to grind with anygody; I am a humanitarian and as such do all I can to ease pain and discomfort. No technical term, how well chosen or phrased it may be, ever helped a poor victim in his predicament, but actually doing something for him by using your hands, your intelligence, your good will, and exercising your noble privilege of being a good fellow toward your fellowman, has many times proved itself to be sufficient to save a life. So let us come back to earth when talking about emergency treatments.

Sometimes there i sonly a little water from your car radiator available; a little lubricating oil, or gasoline; maybe a newspaper, some grass or foliage; maybe the victim's shirt or your own will have to be pressed into service. Whatever there is use it to the best of your ability. In a severe shoulder accident, some years ago, I was compelled to use one of my shoes as wadding in the armpit of the injured person; there simply wasn't anything else available. By doing so I could reduce his unbearable pain considerably though I blistered my own foot on the burning-hot ground.

Whatever you have to do, do it quickly and thoroughly and this consists mostly of alleviating pain, stopping the flow of blood, or immobilizing a fractured bone. Don't pay too much attention to the appearance of your accomplishment; leave the professional part of it to the doctor, who gets paid for his efficiency and expertness.

And now let us look at some of the most useful bandages and study their applications:

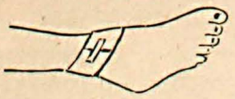

Fig. 1.

Fig. 1. shows the "Circular Bandage" which is the easiest to apply. Just a few turns about a part, each turn precisely covering the preceding one. It may be from 1 to 3 inches in width, all according to the part of anatomy to be bandaged. The end may be pinned with a safety pin, held in place with a strip of adhesive tape, or a cut may be made to halve the bandage long enough so the ends may be wrapped around the part involved and tied. Before tying it is good practice to place a knot in it to prevent tearing. The circular bandage can be used on a sprained wrist or ankle, for stopping the flow of blood, or for securing splints.

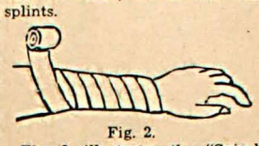

Fig. 2.

Fig. 2. illustrates the "Spiral Bandage." This is applied like a circular bandage but each succeeding turn overlaps the former one by one-half of the width of the bandage. It is best suited for use where the circumference of the part involved is uniform, such as the lower part of the leg or arm, or about the upper part of the arm. The tying is done in the same manner as with circular bandage.

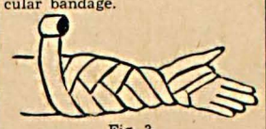

Fig. 3.

Fig. 3. shows the "Figure-of-eight Bandage" which is a very useful one but needs some experience to put on. For the foot and ankle it is applied as follows: Use a two or three inch bandage and begin with two turns about the ankle, run it obliquely across the instep and to the outer side of foot, then under the sole just in back of toes, from there to the inner side and obliquely over instep and around ankle. See Fig. 3. A.

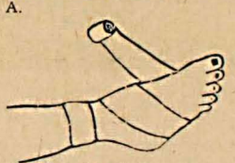

Fig. 3. A

From here across the top of the foot again over preceding turn to the outer edge of the foot, underneath and around as before. See Fig. 3. B.

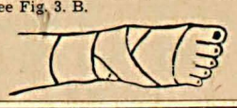

Fig. 3. B

Keep this up until the whole foot back of the toes is covered. Finish the bandage with a few circular turns about the ankle and tie as is suitable. See Fig. 3.C.

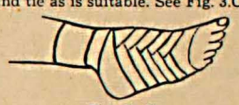

Fig. 3. C

This bandage can be carried up the leg or arm, (see Fig. 3) by omitting the last few turns about the ankle or wrist and instead continue with oblique turns alternately up and down so as to cross one another. The bandage, if applied correctly, will resemble the figure of eight. It can be applied up to the knee and elbow joint.

PRIMARY READING TESTS GIVEN LEMON GROVE PUPILS

A short time ago standard reading tests were administered to all children in the primary grades (1 through 3). These tests have been given to thousands of school pupils and the results in Lemon Grove School indicate how the local children compare in reading ability with those in many other schools.

The test given to the pre-first graders attempts to indicate if children are ready to learn to read. That is, have they matured enough mentally and socially to grasp the complex factors involved in learning to read.

There were 44 pre-first children tested. Out of the 44 there were 8, or 18 percent, who actually will not be ready to read for a year or more according to the test. There were 6 others, or 14 percent, who will not be able to capably manage the reading program for at least 6 to 10 months.

The above figures indicate that there are factors other than teaching that lead to pupil failure later in the school program. The extra help and experience that certain pupils gain who are placed in pre-first usually brings most of the immature readers up to first grade level by the end of a school year.

However, where a child has scored very low on a reading test and due to parents' insistance he is placed directly in first grade, his chances for a successful and happy school life are meager.

The test results in grade 1 showed that only 7, or 5 percent of 175 pupils were a year or more retarded in reading readiness. Several of these 7 had not had pre-first experience.

The Lemon Grove second graders (140) tested up to the score attained by other second graders. The third grade classes (164) tested two months beyond normal third grade achievement.

It is felt that Lemon Grove children are receiving adequate training in reading and that compared with many other schools they are slightly above average in reading abilities.

HORSE LEARNS TO SLEEP IN BED

Jasper, the horse, learned a new trick during production of Universal - International's latest comedy, "Feudin', Fussin', and A-Fightin'."

Jasper learned to sleep in bed.

The script of the Donald O'Connor - Marjorie Main - Percy Kilbride co-starrer which opens Sunday at the Grove Theatre, called for Jasper to drink a bucket of water spiked with sleeping potion and then tumble into O' Connor's bed.

Jasper, who has done everything on the screen from counting to sneezing on cue, took a week to perfect the stunt, but once he got it under his harness it was easy.

When Director George Sherman shouted, "action," Jasper walked to the bucket of water, drained it dry and then slowly lowered his head in drowsiness. Finally he sidled over to the bed and plopped himself in.

The only trouble with the new stunt, according to Jasper's trainer, is that the horse has been insisting on an innerspring mattress ever since learning the trick.

Penny Edwards and Joe Besser have prominent roles in "Feudin', Fussin' and A-Fightin' " which was produced by Leonard Goldstein.
